

RESEARCH CONSULTANT (M/W/D)

Apply now!

Do you find the business with fashion and lifestyle products exciting and would you like to get to know this fascinating industry up close? Do you already have some experience in executive search, preferably in the FMCG sector, and want to get ahead?

As an executive search agency, we fill top international management positions in the fashion and lifestyle industry. We are looking for a Research Consultant (m/f/d) to strengthen our research team and as a trustworthy contact partner for our candidates at top management level for the next possible date.

Your tasks:

- development of identity strategies and target company lists
- telephone identification and initial contact with candidates
- telephone interviews with candidates
- development and maintenance of candidate contacts
- database maintenance
- preparation and accompaniment of acquisition activities
- accompaniment of candidate interviews
- participation in presentations of candidates and clients
- preparation and follow-up of presentations and interviews
- preparation of company and market analyses
- training and development of Research Associates and Junior Research Consultants

You do all this reliably, carefully and proactively. You have excellent manners, are strong in communication and appear self-confident, committed and positive. You speak German and are fluent in English. Another language is an advantage. You know how to express yourself well both orally and in writing.

You bring service orientation, quality awareness, diligence, flexibility, team spirit and humour with you. Ideally, you have a university degree and initial experience in the project business – preferably in the fashion and lifestyle environment. A high affinity to the fashion industry is a matter of course. We look forward to receiving your complete application. Please indicate the possible starting date and your salary expectation and send an e-mail to contact@suits-group.com.